THE BOARD OF HEALTH REPORT.

The town has been unusually free from contagious diseases during the past year, although measles seem to be trying to get a foothold at the end of this fiscal year at the Depot Village.

There seems, also, to have been a less number of complaints on account of the unsanitary conditions about town than usual.

For the past two or three years, early each spring, there has been a complaint more or less general regarding the odor and taste of the Canobie Lake water, coming through the pipes, and while not pleasant to the taste and smell, yet the samples sent to Concord, N. H., for analysis, in each case, did not show anything of a harmful nature.

Sink drainage has been facilitated in several cases during the past year, by digging cess-pools, while not altogether sanitary, and far from being satisfactory, yet they seem to be about the best we can do at present.

There has been one death from tuberculosis, and one from diphtheria, during the past year.

Total number of deaths from all causes during the past year, thirty-three. Population in 1910-2, 120.

Death rate per thousand, 15.56 plus.

SALEM FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The twenty-second annual report of the trustees is herewith presented:

The officers of the institution as chosen at the beginning of the year are Burton E. Davis, chairman; Clinton L. Silver, treasurer; Daniel A. Abbott, secretary; Mrs. Hattie F. Abbott, Librarian.

The trustees are glad to report that the library is still increasing in usefulness to our reading public, and that its scope is broadening in many ways each year.

The circulation shows a very commendable increase over previous years, nearly ten thousand books having been loaned to patrons in the past twelve months.

We are much pleased with the growing interest in the library and increasing demand for books from all parts of the town.

The number of books issued to the people of Salem Depot and North Salem has nearly doubled during the year. This will necessitate some new arrangement for the giving out of books at Salem Depot in the near future.

In the purchase of books, the library officials have endeavored to select such works, as would prove to be elevating in moral tone and instructive and interesting to its patrons, but this is often a difficult task especially in the selection of works of fiction.

Under the advice of Rev. E. C. Wright and Superintendent of Schools H. L. Winslow, a small line of educational books on child life, in relation to teacher training, has been added to the library, and are in demand by the teachers of our public schools, and Sunday school Workers.

Additional books of this class will be added from time to time if there seems to be a demand for such works.

The attention of the patrons is again called to the fact that two books can be taken out on one card, one of fiction, and one of reference, or non-fiction. This should be a pleasing convenience to all who desire standard works as well as fiction.

We desire to extend our thanks and appreciation to all who have in any way contributed to the success of the library, and would suggest that if each patron would donate one book each year, they would render very material assistance to the institution.

As the library grows older, the earlier books wear out and must be replaced more frequently and this fact, in connection with the large number of volumes which must be rebound each year, and the new books to be purchased, calls for larger appropriations for the maintenance of the library than was formerly needed, and for this purpose we would recommend at least two hundred dollars.

The ability of a library to serve the public under the varying circumstances and conditions of life is one of its strong claims to generous support and believing that our library is equal to the best in towns of its size. We confidently hope and expect that the town, at its annual meeting, will accord us generous treatment regarding the annual appropriation for its maintenance.

SCHOOL REPORT.

To the School Board and Citizens of Salem:

I have the honor to present my third report as superintendent of schools and I beg that at least the statistical tables be given careful perusal. Statistics are uninteresting, but school statistics, if properly compiled, tell a great deal about the progress and rank of your schools.

I always regret to record changes in teachers but in a district like Salem find it often necessary, since larger districts bordering are able to hold out better inducements. Mrs. Anna Firth was transferred to Number 8 Primary School on the resignation of Miss Auty, and Miss Ada B. Monroe, a graduate of Lowell Normal School, with some experience, was chosen to succeed her. Our choice has proven to be a wise one. Miss Mary Fisk was employed to act as an assistant at the Depot and to teach Manual Training. We might have searched the country and not found a teacher so well adapted to our needs. At Number 8 Grammar School, Miss Elsie Silver resigned for a more lucrative position and Miss Margaret Weiss, another Lowell graduate, took her place. It was with much regret that we parted with her after one term. An election to a Lawrence school proved too strong an inducement. Miss Dora Cohen, a graduate of Portsmouth Training School and holder of a state certificate, who taught under my supervision at North Atkinson with unqualified success, was promoted to her position and is "making good." I hardly thought it possible to succeed Miss Cate at Number 7 School with a teacher satisfactory to all but Miss Marion Webster is doing excellent work. Millville School, Number 5, is very small and Miss Annie G. Loring is proving herself worthy of a larger position. Cupid was responsible for removing Miss Cora Duston from our teaching force, after several years of faithful service. Miss Ethel Tebbetts began to keep school at Number 10, but was taken severely ill during the fall term and Miss Alice Emerson, a teacher of some experience and sound common sense, was placed in charge and later made permanent in the position, we hope for several years, rather than several terms. Miss Bertha Palmer was one of the few who faced and conquered the examinations and secured the state certificate. She was promptly transferred to Number 4 School and Miss Margaret Hyde given an opportunity to prove her worth at Number 3. This school is also very small.

Space forbids personal mention of the teachers remaining in service. Sufficient to say that we have an unusually strong corps of teachers, and every effort should be made to retain them. Parents can help by giving them loyal support and words of encouragement. Our teachers are human, their pupils human and treated as such. Since we deal with imperfect humanity our results will never be perfect. We are all doing our best. I urge the formation of Parent-Teacher organizations to bring the schools closer to their patrons.

Thirty-three pupils graduated last June and twenty, or less than 61 per cent., entered secondary schools. For further statistics see the report of the high school committee.

The school exhibit has come to be a part of the graduation exercises. It is intended to have every child represented by at least one piece of work in this exhibit. If you do not see your child's work bring the matter to the attention of the superintendent.

Mr. Hartwell's report is inserted elsewhere. It seems to me that more lasting good was accomplished in music last year than ever before. Mr. Hartwell's health has improved and his work has been uninterrupted this year.

The same plan as last year has been followed in agriculture. During the early spring seeds were tested. No more valuable aid to the teaching of arithmetic can be found than this seed testing. If thirty seeds are sown and twenty-five prove fertile, fractions and percentage can be made real with the results. The school gardens were prepared at an insignificant expense. The work on a new garden at Salem Center Grammar School was done by the boys, one boy furnishing a horse and plow and the other boys co-operating. The Primary School bed was prepared by Mr. Silver at no expense to the district. The drought of the summer and the early frost precluded much of a crop from any garden. Every school had its plot and all looked well at the spring visitation. The committee, selected from the three granges in town, were Mr. Albert Littlefield, Mr. Charles Allen, and Mr. Loren Hunt. A visit was made by the first two in June and another visit planned for September, but the latter was not made since the frost ruined everything. The committee awarded the premium to the Center Grammar School and Salem Grange furnished a picture for a prize. Enterprise Grange has offered a picture to the school whose grounds and garden shall show the most improvement at the close of school next June. A gold dollar is also offered by the lecturer of this grange to the pupil of the Eighth Grade writing the best essay on the life of Daniel Webster. This prize will be given at graduation.

The Seventh Grade pupils, desiring to take up cooking, were so many that it was found necessary to divide the class. Miss Fiske has one division on Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Coolidge taking the other division Thursday afternoon. The eighth grade are also given their lesson at a different time on Thursday afternoon. A luncheon was served during the spring term to the school board, superintendent, and their wives. They should be called upon to testify to the success of the undertaking. During the fall term a luncheon was served to the teachers of the town. Sewing has not received quite as much attention as it deserved, partly owing to a lack of material being brought in by pupils. A sewing machine has recently been purchased which will help this department. A scheme is being worked out to remedy the difficulty of furnishing material.

The manual training class has worked well and accomplished a great deal for the first two terms. The equipment is expensive but the bulk is now provided. There were not enough pupils to make it feasible to start a branch at North Salem as contemplated. It is my opinion that the district should furnish transportation to this class next year. Car tickets could be purchased at pupil rates. An interesting feature developed at Number 7 School, a feature possible in all one-room schools. There was but one pupil prepared for manual training and he made the proposition to purchase his own tools, provided the district would furnish the material for his work, and his own teacher give the instruction. This Miss Webster was able to do. He has bought about nine dollars' worth of tools, sold him at wholesale, and is doing good work with them.

Your superintendent has been pleased with the medical inspection. Some parents in almost every school sent in written requests not to have their children examined, as was their right. I think that there will be fewer cases next year because of a better understanding of the examination. Dr. Laton's report is appended.

A few figures as to cost of schools are given below:

Average cost per pupil of average attendance, exclusive of high school tuition, but inclusive of all other cost, 1914.	$34.05
Average cost of teaching, including special subjects.	17.42
Average cost for books and supplies.	1.04

Added to this is the report of the special committee elected at the last school district meeting. I consider the need of better high school facilities the most pressing educational need of this district. Your superintendent is glad to see an article in the warrant to improve the sanitary conditions at the Depot School. This article deserves hearty support. All of your school buildings are in good repair, inside and out, and fairly well equipped. The stoves in all the one-room buildings should be jacketted as described in a bulletin issued by the state department. Out-houses should be, in some cases, moved and remodeled so as to connect with the main building as at Number 7 School.

In conclusion, I think that I can truthfully say that the citizens of Salem should be proud of the schools. They are doing their work well. Your superintendent has been supported by the school board and has appreciated the words of encouragement occasionally received from interested patrons.

Respectfully submitted,

HOWARD L. WINSLOW.

To Superintendent Winslow and School Board of Salem:

Your supervisor submits the following report concerning the very important subject of music in the schools of Salem for the year just closed:

During the last few years so very many pupils have been graduated from the grammar grades in this town, among whom have been included many prominent in school musical circles, that the prospect of keeping up the high standard of excellence that has characterized our graduation exercises has seemed doubtful, at first thought. Such is not the situation, however, for Time is the great developer of youth. Each year brings its quota of ripened material—of better developed voices, and more experienced classes,—so that one becomes hopeful for the results of the future.

The custom inaugurated last year of bringing the schools together for combined chorus singing, as well as putting them in competition with each other, has proven its great value as a stimulus to excellent work, as was intended. Your supervisor is confident that the results would more than justify the means, if some provision were made for the transportation of the pupils to the few rehearsals for and to the exercises of graduation, so that each school might be more fully represented. This combination of the schools gives the people of the town a better opportunity to see and hear just what is being done, musically, in the schools.

I will not take the space in this report to make specific mention of each school, but will refer in brief to those only, which seem to be doing the most thorough and painstaking work.

The pupils of the grammar grades at the Center school are doing the most satisfactory singing this year in the school's history, so far as your present supervisor is cognizant. This is not a large school, and is mostly composed of boys, but the parts are very independently sustained, and the results are most gratifying.

At the Depot school musical affairs are also very satisfactory, particularly in the intermediate grades, where the enthusiasm of the pupils seems unlimited. Very excellent individual work is done in the rhythmic problems of the time language, and it is a pleasure to visit this large school of busy workers.

School Number 9, near the Methuen line, remains yet unexcelled in its all-around musical accomplishments, a position it has held for several years. It is always a delight to visit this school.

Musical matters occupy a prominent position in the curriculum of Number 8 school, both in the upper and lower grades, and some of the best voices in the town's schools are heard here. Excellent three-part singing is given, and the pupils are much interested in their music.

It seems evident to your supervisor that the interest in the subject of music has extended, as never before, to the pupils of the whole town, and that good and conscientious work is done in all the schools, beyond that of previous years.

My thanks are extended to the very excellent corps of teachers for thorough co-operation; to the pupils, for courtesy at all times; to the superintendent of schools and school board, for commendation, support and for all needed supplies.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM E. HARTWELL,

Supervisor of Music.

HAVERHILL, MASS., February 2, 1915.

To the School Board of Salem:

In submitting this report of the first examination of the school children, I wish to ask that the accompanying summary be carefully examined as it will show quite accurately in few words the condition of our school children as a whole.

The general health of the pupils is excellent. The mental condition seems to be above the average. There are only a very few who are backward, and as these few are known to the teachers they probably will not retard the other pupils.

There are three things which are very noticeable, however:

1. The large percentage of unvaccinated pupils. In New England practically all the smallpox cases come over the border from Canada. We, in this town, are near enough to Canada to make the presence of a large number of unvaccinated persons a considerable menace to public.

2. The number of pupils with defective teeth is large. While the number is probably no greater than in any other town of this size, I would recommend the co-operation of parents and teachers in training the pupils to care for their teeth, as much disease can be traced to defective teeth.

3. The number of pupils with hypertrophied tonsils is large. The majority of these children will probably never have any serious trouble as a result, but for those children who have repeated attacks of tonsilitis or sore throat, the removal of the tonsils would be recommended as a prevention of serious trouble.

As to the condition of the school premises, the one school which needs the most thorough renovation in its toilet facilities is the Number 6 school at Salem Depot. The condition of the toilet rooms is bad, the earth closets are smelly, unsanitary, and tend to always get worse. I would advise that the State Board of Health be invited to recommend the best method of taking care of the toilets of a school serving so large a number of pupils as the one at the Depot. The well at this school should be abolished as a source of drinking water as soon as practicable, and sanitary fountains of town water installed.

In a large number of the school premises wells are for some reason not usable at present and should be attended to as soon as possible, and I would recommend that samples of water from each school well be sent to the State Board of Health for analysis each year.

The toilets in the outlying schools are in very good condition, the janitors apparently taking pride in keeping everything neat and clean.

In conclusion, the work started this year should prove immensely valuable in the years to come. Parents should co-operate with the school physician to secure the minimum of disease in the schools and the maximum of protection to the school children. The medical inspection of schools should be considered as a most important step in the prevention of public disease.

Respectfully submitted,

G. P. LATON, M. D.,
Medical Inspector of Schools.

REPORT OF HIGH SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Only two-thirds of our graduates are entering high schools or academies. Tuition at Methuen has advanced to $50. Lawrence and Haverhill charge $60. Unless the district votes to assume the increase, parents must bear it. Transportation between Salem and the above schools is interstate and reduced rates cannot be obtained. Parents are paying $40 a year for transportation, or a total of $2,000 (there being exactly 50 pupils in high school). Extra tuition per pupil costs those outside of Pinkerton Academy $10, or a total of $360. The town this year will pay $2,000 tuition and the state will pay back at least $1,000. (The amount received from the state in December was $986.)

The average membership in Salem schools last year was 303. Relative to the above statement, State Superintendent Morrison writes: "I do not know of any other place in the state situated as Salem is (viz., without a high school) which has a larger membership and I am very decidedly of the opinion that it would be a great advantage to the children of the town to establish a high school." Relative to the present condition we wish to quote from the State Department's Circular, No. 13, Series 1913-14: "The attendance of children at high schools oftentimes involves daily trips to and from on the railroad with attendant loitering about the station in the morning and afternoon. They are under no kind of restraint and their behavior is apt not only to prove disgusting to bystanders but also thoroughly prejudicial to their own moral growth."

The Department of Public Instruction figures the teaching cost of a high school to be 70 per cent. of the total. Salem would need a principal at $1,000; two assistants at $600 each, or a total of $2,200. Other cost, $950, totaling, $3,150, to maintain a first-class high school. Aid from the state would be as follows: Approved teachers, $216; average attendance, $107; increase in Literary Fund, $64; or a total of $387; $1,000 would be saved in tuitions; therefore the cost to town would be $1,763 in excess to the expense of sending pupils out of town, as at present; and if the district should vote to assume the entire cost of tuition, only about $1,000 more than at present. This is taking no account of any income from pupils coming to the school from other towns. The parents of Salem would also be saving $2,000 in transportation charges.

REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD FOR 1914-15.

This year we have had a number of changes in teachers. Two of them had taught here for several years, and we were sorry to have them go, but we have been successful in getting competent teachers to fill all the vacancies. For a more complete account we refer you to the Superintendent's report.

We recommend the following amounts to be voted on:

In addition to the amount required by law,	$4,200.00
Salary of school board and treasurer,	200.00
Salary of truant officer,	20.00
